Rachel Potts serves as Director of Strategic Partnerships and Ministry Relations with Lutheran Braille Workers (LBW). She lives in Ann Arbor, Michigan, with her husband and their three children.

Before joining LBW, Rachel worked as a speech-language pathologist in Tucson, Arizona, and later as Director of Enrollment at St. Paul Lutheran School in Michigan for 11 years.

Today, Rachel is part of LBW's leadership team and considers it a blessing to share the Gospel with people who are blind or visually impaired. Outside of ministry, Rachel enjoys music, travel, gardening, youth robotics, Girl Scouts, and family time.

Steve Harris is Assistant Branch Manager of Orphan Grain Train–Houston. A native Texan and University of Houston chemistry graduate, he spent over 30 years as a laboratory director and now works as a consultant.

Steve and his wife, Holly, have three sons and serve together on the Lutheran Early Response Team and the Orphan Grain Train–Houston board. He has deployed to disaster sites in Texas, Louisiana, and Florida, and has dedicated more than 25 years to Pasadena Habitat for Humanity.

In 2018, Steve helped establish the Houston Orphan Grain Train branch and oversee construction of its Pasadena warehouse. Steve and Holly look forward to continuing their service into retirement.
